ABOUT ME

I love design very much, even though I graduated with a bachelor's degree in information technology (IT). With various experiences that I have worked on from high school until I graduated from university, it allows us to get involved with work that requires design skills. Whether it's an activity that happens while studying or freelance work that comes in while looking, it's inevitable that graphic design work is inevitable. Approximately 3 years of experience working as a Graphics Designer (freelance) seriously, which is 3 years that we enjoy the job and not get bored. And expecting myself to want to turn from freelance to working seriously

People around me often say I'm the duck-like type. Because we always like to learn even if something is not necessary. Some things that I don't know when I can take advantage of it. I'm a person when things get too difficult, I'm not someone who gives up quickly. Very difficult, just find someone to teach. Just keep in mind that

"Even if I have to start from zero, if I have time, how difficult will it be if someone teaches me please teach me will make it possible to see"
